

USE Vegetable Sicilian HALL'S HAIR RENEWER.

It is a medicinal preparation, and, at the same time, an elegant and cleanly toilet article. Its action upon the scalp is healthful. It nourishes the glands which support the hair, and causes thin, dry hair to become thick, soft, and vigorous. It restores the color of youth to locks which have become faded with age or disease; and relieves and cures itching, caused by humors of the scalp. Dr. George Gray, Nashua, N. H., writes: "It gives me pleasure to testify to the wonderful effects produced by Hall's Vegetable Sicilian Hair Renewer, as observed by me in very many cases. IT WILL CERTAINLY RESTORE THE HAIR TO ITS ORIGINAL COLOR. It cleanses the head of dandruff, and leaves the hair soft, glossy, and beautiful." F. T. Southen, 1010 Spruce st., Philadelphia, Pa., writes: "After unavailingly trying a number of preparations to prevent my hair from falling out, and, realizing that I was fast becoming bald, I tried, as a last resort, Hall's Hair Renewer. I have used only four bottles of the Renewer, and am perfectly satisfied that it is the best preparation in the market for checking the falling out of hair, invigorating the hair roots, and promoting a new growth."

A Young Sewer's Waitecoat.

Three or four weeks ago the very youthful son of a millionaire manufacturer, whose wife is struggling hard to get into what are considered the inner social circles, got a kick from a three months' residence in London. He lounged about the clubs and the hotels, in which the representatives of wealth and fashion gather in a sun of amazing colors, the capote of which was his waistcoat. And the latter garment was always flying loose and unbuttoned at the bottom. Naturally every one intimate enough to talk familiarly to the young gentleman would in the course of the conversation, mechanically close the button and the exultant would quietly fasten it again, so that no one ever saw the waistcoat closed all the way down for more than a minute and a half at a time. After this performance had gone on for a week or two the young gentleman said to a friend who was about to induce him to do it again:

"Look here, old chap, don't do that."

"Don't do what, dear boy?"

"Don't close that lower button. To leave the last button of your waistcoat open is really the very latest in London, don't you know? That is really what I saw, you know, at all the races over in England. I have a great eye for detail, don't you know? Every gentleman must who wishes to dress properly."

The seed was planted on good ground, and now all the queer city exquisites wear their waistcoats, popping open at the bottom. The course the fashion is dead in London. Some still extend undergarments supported during the last season, and a few minutes took it up after they had slipped it from one of them probably out of a weak spot.

(Times & News)

Having returned to England from the seat of war, "the soldier" all the vast experience and wisdom of the German embassy, to whom he used the knowledge of the disposition of the German troops, engaged in weaving round, and that environment of blood and iron, he resolved to make one more effort to peace his services. It was a toss-up as to which of the great London dailies should be applied to, but fortunately, The Daily News was the first, and Mr. Forbes found himself appreciated. Robinson, of The News, met him pleasantly, and, after listening to what he had to say, remarked: "as that is a very interesting and valuable, will you oblige me by writing three columns on the subject, and will you consider 5 guineas a column adequate remuneration? If so, please let the copy be sent in as rapidly as possible." Having returned to his lodgings and begun to write Mr. Forbes found that he had more than three columns of matter to say, and went back to explain the difficulty. He saw the managing editor this time, and the following brief dialogue followed:

"Is this your story?" he trenchantly asked, laying his finger on the slip of proof before him.

Forbes glanced at it and said it was his.

"Well, then," said he, "we'll take as much of this of you, as you care to write."

The next day Forbes started for Metz to represent The Daily News. "It was then," he says, "that in reality my career as a war correspondent began."

boon ever bestowed upon man is perfect health, and the true way to insure health is to purify your blood with Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Mrs. Eliza A. Clough, 31 Arlington st., Lowell, Mass., writes: "Every winter and spring my family, including myself, use several bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Experience has convinced me that, as a powerful purifier, it is very much superior to any other preparation of Sarsaparilla. All persons of scrofulous or consumptive tendencies, and especially delicate children, are sure to be greatly benefited by its use." J. W. Starr, Lacoula, Iowa, writes: "For years I was troubled with Scrofulous complaints. I tried several different preparations, which did me little, if any, good. Two bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla effected a complete cure. It is my opinion that this medicine is the best blood of the day." C. E. Upton, Nashua, N. H., writes: "For a number of years I was troubled with a humor in my eyes, and unable to obtain relief until I commenced using Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I have taken several bottles, am greatly benefited, and believe it to be the best of blood purifiers." R. Harris, Creel City, Ramsey Co., Dakota, writes: "I have been an intense sufferer, with Dyspepsia, for the past three years. Six months ago I began to use
